Introduced by Frank Skinner. Illustrated by Tim McDonagh. The Folio Society, London 2019. 24 x 16,5 cm. 17, 251 S. Illustriertes Leinen im Schuber.- Comedian, writer and broadcaster Frank Skinner introduces the new Folio edition of Ray Bradbury's dark fantasy masterpiece Something Wicked This Way Comes, with thrilling illustrations by artist Tim McDonagh.- Described by Bradbury himself as the book he loved 'best of all the things I have written', Something Wicked This Way Comes is a timeless classic of fantasy horror. For this lavishly illustrated collector's edition, Tim McDonagh has provided seven colour illustrations dripping with carnivalesque menace. The eerie inhabitants of Cooger & Dark's Pandemonium Shadow Show are lit with the gaudy yellow and red lights of the funfair, while Mr Dark leers from the midst of his attractions, the faces of his victims tattooed across his palms. Like Bradbury's prose, the images in this special Folio edition invite the reader to venture a little deeper into that dark tent, promising wonders and horrors and everything in between. Comedian and actor Frank Skinner lists the book as amongst his favourites, and in his incisive and affectionate introduction written for this edition he examines the many delicious flavours of fear in a novel layered with meaning and portents.- Tadellos.
